1. Message from the President of IIA Morocco

On December 16 and 17, 2026, Rabat will host the ARABCIA Annual Conference, organized in partnership with IIA Morocco under the theme “Internal Audit: A Trusted Partner in Organizational Transformation and Resilience.”

This conference comes at a pivotal time for our profession. As transformation accelerates, new risks emerge, and expectations for sound Governance continue to rise, Internal Audit has an essential role to play: building trust, informing decisions, and helping organizations anticipate the future.

I firmly believe that our profession advances when we build bridges across experiences, cultures, and generations. This is our ambition for this edition: to bring together in Rabat professionals, leaders, and experts from Morocco, the Arab world, Africa, and other regions to compare perspectives, share practical approaches, and jointly develop new responses to the challenges facing our organizations.

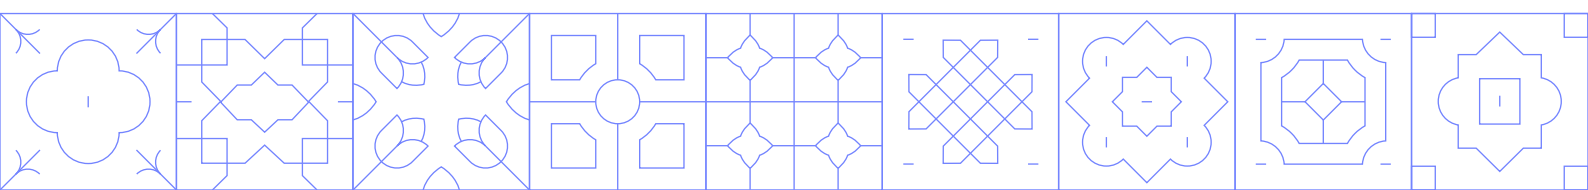

A conference of this scale cannot be built alone. It reaches its full potential through the commitment of partners who share our determination to advance professional practices, support innovation, and develop our professional community. Their contribution extends beyond the visibility of the event: it directly enriches the discussions, strengthens the conference’s international reach, and enhances its ability to deliver lasting impact.

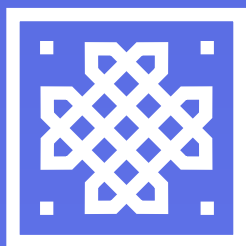

It is therefore with great enthusiasm that I invite you to join us for this edition. We want to build a partnership with you that goes beyond visibility: one aligned with your ambitions and designed to create meaningful connections, knowledge sharing, and mutual value.

By joining this initiative, you will help make the conference a unifying event for our profession and a forum where the future of Internal Audit takes shape. We hope to welcome you among the partners who will give this edition its full reach and impact.

Deyaa Abbad El Andaloussi

President of IIA Morocco

3. About ARABCIA

3. About ARABCIA

The Arab Confederation of Internal Auditors (ARABCIA) is an international non-profit professional organization, legally established and financially independent. It operates under the supervision of the competent authority in the country hosting its headquarters.

Established in December 2022, ARABCIA is headquartered in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. It brings together internal audit associations and institutes from across the Arab world and serves as a regional platform for cooperation, representation, and knowledge sharing.

The Confederation works to develop and promote the internal audit profession throughout the Arab world. It fosters coordination among its members, encourages the dissemination of leading professional practices, and strengthens Internal Audit's contribution to governance, transparency, risk management, and the performance of public- and private-sector organizations.

Vision

ARABCIA's vision is to contribute to greater transparency and improved governance and performance across public- and private-sector institutions and organizations.

The Confederation also aims to develop specialized professional competencies in internal auditing throughout the Arab world and to represent its member associations and institutes before regional and international professional organizations.

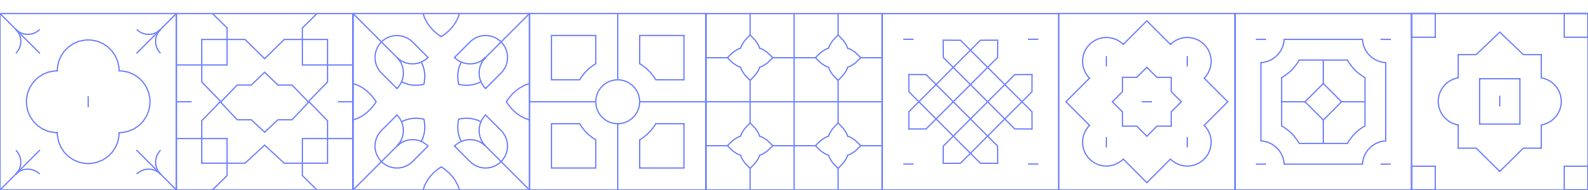

Through this vision, ARABCIA aspires to position Internal Audit as a trusted strategic partner capable of supporting organizational transformation, strengthening resilience, and contributing to the creation and protection of value.

Mission

ARABCIA's mission is to promote compliance with the ethical principles and professional standards of internal auditing while providing its member associations, institutes, and professionals with the educational, technical, and regulatory guidance required to advance the profession.

It seeks to unite efforts across Arab countries to enhance awareness, understanding, and recognition of Internal Audit. This mission is supported by the development of professional practices, the promotion of international standards, and assistance with their implementation across the region's diverse institutional and economic environments.

The Confederation also provides a valuable platform for exchanging experiences, encouraging collective reflection, and strengthening cooperation among internal audit professionals throughout the Arab world.

3. About ARABCIA

Objectives

ARABCIA's primary objective is to develop, promote, and strengthen the internal audit profession across the Arab world. To achieve this objective, it seeks to:

- Strengthen cooperation and knowledge sharing among member institutes across the Arab world.
- Promote international internal audit standards and enhance professional practices.
- Develop auditors' skills through training, workshops, research, and professional certifications.
- Translate and disseminate relevant professional resources in Arabic.
- Organize regional and international events and build strategic partnerships.
- Represent member institutes internationally and enhance the visibility and recognition of the internal audit profession.

Member Countries

ARABCIA brings together internal audit associations and institutes from thirteen Arab countries:

	The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia		Lebanon		Sudan
	Bahrain		Morocco		Tunisia
	Egypt		Oman		The United Arab Emirates
	Jordan		Qatar
	Kuwait		Somalia

By uniting these member countries within a common regional framework, the Confederation promotes cooperation, knowledge sharing, professional development, and the dissemination of leading internal audit practices across the Arab world.

3. About ARABCIA

Previous Annual Conferences

The 2026 Rabat conference will be ARABCIA's third Annual Conference, following two successful previous editions. The inaugural conference was held in Cairo, Egypt, in February 2024, with the participation of IIA Global and ARABCIA's member associations and institutes, focusing on the integration of artificial intelligence into internal audit work and its impact on the future of the profession.

The second conference took place in AlUla, Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, in February 2025, under the theme "Together for Leadership," under the patronage of H.E. Dr. Hussam bin Abdulmohsen Alangari, President of the General Court of Audit and Chairman of ARABCIA's Board. It brought together the heads of member associations and institutes from thirteen Arab countries, alongside IIA Global's Board and executive management, across three sessions covering global developments in internal audit, regional strategic approaches to the profession, innovative technologies and data analytics, governance and risk, and the profession's ethical responsibilities.

Key Achievements Since Its Establishment

- Expanded from its founding membership to thirteen member associations and institutes across the Arab world within three years of establishment.
- Signed a Memorandum of Understanding with IIA Global to translate internal audit knowledge and professional resources from English into Arabic, including the Arabization of the CIA (Certified Internal Auditor) exam, with new Arabic-language CIA standards set to launch in December 2026.
- Coordinated regional thought-leadership initiatives, including the IIA Global Risk in Focus Middle East Roundtable.

About the Event

Conference Context and Ambition

Four Seasons Kasr Al Bahr
Rabat, Kingdom of Morocco

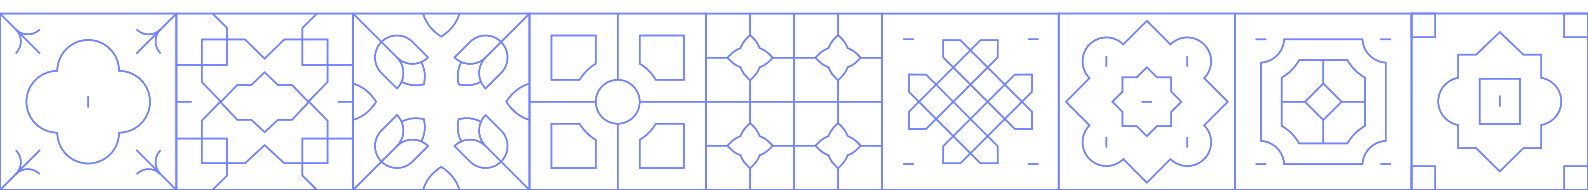

16 and 17, 2026
December

The Internal Audit profession is evolving at an unprecedented pace. Organizations must simultaneously accelerate transformation, manage increasingly interconnected risks, and preserve stakeholder trust. In this context, Internal Audit can no longer be limited to retrospective observations. It must provide governing bodies with independent assurance, forward-looking insight, and advice that informs decision-making.

The Global Internal Audit Standards, effective since January 2025, reflect this evolution by affirming that Internal Audit strengthens an organization's ability to create, protect, and sustain value through risk-based assurance, advisory, insight, and foresight services performed with independence and objectivity.

The 2026 ARABCIA Conference will translate this ambition into the realities of the Arab world and Africa. It will provide a forum for discussion and experience sharing on challenges common to the public and private sectors, while highlighting the economic and institutional transformations underway across the region.

Held in Rabat, the conference will bring together representatives of professional institutes, executives, board members, assurance leaders, experts, and technology partners. This diversity will connect international approaches with regional experience to develop practical, relevant, and sustainable responses.
